

Wednesday 27th January 2021

LI: To identify the punctuation of bullet points in a list.

Success Criteria:

- I know that a colon introduces the list and semi-colons separate lengthy items in the list and each new item is on a new line with a bullet point.
- I can identify where the colon, semi-colons and bullet points need to be placed.
- I can introduce a list with a colon.
- I can separate lengthy phrases in the list with semi-colons.
- I can put each new item on a new line (beginning with a bullet point).

Starter

TTYP: What did we find out about wolves?

Starter

TTYP: What did we find out about wolves?

Wolves are carnivores

Packs are usually up to 12 wolves

Ancestor of the domestic dog.

Wolves usually stalk old or sick animals

Young wolves are called 'pups'
or 'whelps'

Adult wolves are usually 1.4
to 1.8 metres

A wolf can run 20-30 miles in 1 day.

Success Criteria:

- I know that a colon introduces the list and semi-colons separate lengthy items in the list and each new item is on a new line with a bullet point
- I can identify where the colon, semi-colons and bullet points need to be placed.
- I can introduce a list with a colon.
- I can separate lengthy phrases in the list with semi-colons.
- I can put each new item on a new line (beginning with a bullet point).

Model

Gray wolves are carnivores and although they usually eat hooved animals, they also enjoy rodents, foxes, salmon, lizards, snakes and birds.

How can I change this list into a list with bullet points and a colon?

T.N. Before a colon, you MUST have a complete main clause. _

Grey wolves are carnivores and although they usually eat hooved animals they also enjoy eating other animals like rodents, foxes, salmon, lizards, snakes and birds.

Grey wolves are carnivores and although they usually eat hooved animals they also enjoy eating other animals:

- rodents,
- foxes,
- salmon,
- lizards,
- snakes
- birds.

Can you change this into a list using bullet points and a colon?

There are many species of wolf, which live all over the world, including countries in North America, Asia and Europe.

LI: To identify the punctuation of bullet points in a list.

Success Criteria:

- I know that a colon introduces the list and semi-colons separate lengthy items in the list and each new item is on a new line with a bullet point
- I can identify where the colon, semi-colons and bullet points need to be placed.
- I can introduce a list with a colon.
- I can separate lengthy phrases in the list with semi-colons.
- I can put each new item on a new line (beginning with a bullet point).

Task:

Can you change these lists into lists with bullet points and a colon?

1. There are many different types of wolf the gray, red, arctic and timber.
2. Wolves can communicate in many ways, when they are in their pack howl, wimper, growl, bark or use body language.
3. If you live near wolves, there are a few things you should do not feed them; feed your pets inside your house; ensure your bin lids are secure and do not approach a wolf.
4. Wolves have been the subject of stories for centuries 'Little Red Riding Hood', 'White Fang', 'Wolf Bother' or 'The Three Little Pigs'.

Challenge

Can you write your own list using bullet points about wolf habitats?

